Next Sunday 9 May garagErasmus Foundation will commemorate the Europe Day with an online Aperitif on the role of the Erasmus+ programme shaping the future of Europe.

The recently launched 2021-2027 Erasmus+ programme can make a significant contribution to a more united Europe. Thanks to its predecessors, over 10M Europeans have benefited from mobility work or study experiences that have unequivocally contributed to creating a new generation of international talents. The more chances Erasmus+ gives to youngsters, the more future pro-EU engaged citizens our continent will have!

This online apéritif will also link the programme to the new opportunities the Conference on the Future of Europe -which will be formally launched on the same date, 9 May 2021- will deliver to Europe, as the Erasmus Generation's participation on it is fundamental for its successful outcome.

The event is also taking place in the framework of all the organised events in the framework of the together.eu campaign of the European Parliament, and particularly in the framework of the EUth Pages for Europe project. If you want to contribute to the Conference's success, do not hesitate to join the EUth Pages for Europe project as an Ambassador: people who took part in the event will have +2 extra points in the selection process: <https://bit.ly/famb4eufuture>.
